On Sunday evening April 13, 1924 at 6:30 o'clock, the Death Angel came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Galford and claimed their darling baby, Wilma Christine Galford, aged one month and one day. Little Christime took whooping cough when about two weeks old. All was done for the little sufierer that loving hands could do, but God knew best, and our loss is Heaven's gain. She leaves to mourn her loss, father, mother, four brothers and one sister, one little sister having gone to the glory land just eight months ago.

The little voice is silent,
The little feet are still,
When the Lord said come
We knew it was his will,
We shall meet, but Oh we miss her.
There will be a vacant chair,
How we lingered to caress her
While we breathed an evening prayer.

Died, October 7, 1925, George Samuel Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doc Gibson, of Ellray, aged three years and ten months, of cholora infantum. He was a bright and loving little boy, and a jewel is gone from the home that will never be forgotten.

The angels came and took him,
The angels God did send,
They bore his soul to Heaven,
They whispered as they went.

And when beyond that river,
We meet to part no more.
We'll meet and greet our darling
On that celestial shore.

We wish to thank the people who were so kind to us during the sickness, death and burial of our little darling boy, George Samuel.

Mrs Maggie Alice Hevener Greathouse, daughter of Harvey and Nancy Cassell Hevener, was born near Hosterman, West Virginia, April 2, 1874, and died December 13, 1937, age 63 years, 8 months and 11 days.

Her mother passed on, while she was but a young girl thirteen years of age. Her father died 23 years ago.

Having given her life to the Savior many years ago, she continued to love her church and serve it; her selected church being the Church of the Brethern.

On March 24, 1897 she was married to William C. Greathouse, of Highland county, Virginia. This couple spent their entire life in Pocahontas county: To this union five sons and five daughters were born. Freddie died in infancy. Those surviving are Mrs. A. E. Sheets and Mrs W. O. Rose, of Durbin; Mrs O. N. Cassell, of Cass; Mrs H F. Cromer, of Cheat Bridge; Herman and Herbert, of Durbin; Clyde, of Greenbank; Katherine and Ivan remain at home. She also leaves two sisters and two brothers; Mrs C. M. Ratliff, of Morrow, Ohio; Mrs Laura Shifflett, of Marlinton; Vanburen Hevener, of Tell City, Indiana and Adam Hevener, of Durbin. One brother, Samuel, died four years ago. Fifteen grandchildren and many relatives and friends feel their great loss.

Many friends, pastors and church workers found a welcome in her home. Mother was an active worker in the Primary Department of the church as long as she was able. She took great interest in the work of the Hevener Aid Society of which she was a member. She always took us to church while we were tiny, believing that children should be quiet in church as well as elsewhere. Always setting good examples for us to follow wherever she was.

Mother was devoted to her home, her family, her flowers and hand work by which her activeness was expressed. Not until the last two weeks of her life did she give up to inactivity.

Although Mother was not strong for several months, no one realized she was so near the end, until she told us she couldn't live much longer but was ready to die, and as she called each member of the family to her bedside, she said, "Prepare to meet your God, so when you come to an hour like this you too will be ready to come, so our family circle will be unbroken in Heaven." On December 10 she suffered a paralytic stroke, and never again spoke.

No words can tell how we miss Mother; she was so kind and considerate; so helpful to all. We cannot realize that she is dead---but just away. All was done that loving hands could do, but God's will be done.

Her funeral service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. I. J. Garber, assisted by Rev. G. D. Naylor. The service was beautifully centered around a favorite Scripture; John 14. The Durbin choir sang two requested numbers "Gone Before" and "We are Going Down the Valley." A large group of sad relatives and friends testified to the love and esteem with which she was held. Interment was made in the Bethel Cemetery.

By a daughter, A. K. G.

PETER HILL DEAD

Mr. Peter Hill, one of the pioneer citizens of Jacox, Pocahontas Co., W. Va., reached the end of his long earthly life at 9:30 a. m. Sunday, February 10th, 1924, at the home of his son, George Hill, at Hillsboro, W. Va., from feebleness and infirmities incident to old age. Mr. Hill had been in a feeble condition for some time, but recently suffered a stroke of paralysis and never recovered from same but gradually became weaker until the feeble cord of life could no longer hold him here and it snapped, and he departed from this earthly life to enter into life eternal.

Mr. Hill was born February 12th. 1837, at the home now occupied by George Hill, of Lobelia, W. Va., and a few years later his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abram Hill exchanged this home property with George Hill, and moved to the old Hill homestead which has in recent years been sold and divided and what was once such a fine property is now the property of several different persons Jesse Anderson having built a modern home near where the subject of this sketch with several brothers and one sister were reared and trained for lives of usefulness and where for years the many pioneer traveling Methodist ministers of the gospel were entertained.

On April 11, 1867, Mr. Hill was united in marriage to Miss Margaret J., daughter of Ebenezer and Sallie McMillion Whiting, and they spent almost 56 years of wedded life together, Mrs. Hill dying March 16, 1923. To this union five boys and three daughters were born, Two sons preceded their parents to the grave, Dr. Ernest B. of Marlinton, and Sherman, of California, the following are the children left to mourn their fathers death: J. Wilson, of Jacox; George P.. of Hillsboro, Dr. Simon, of Regent, N. Dakota; Lena Hanna, of Spring Creek; Mary Morrison, of Renick; and Anna Curry, of Renick W. Va.

After his marriage Mr. Hill lived for a few months on the farm now owned by Newton Clutter, of Lobelia, and from thence removed to his home where the remaining years of his were spent. Since the death of his wife and a very short time before her death he made his home with his son, J. Wilson out near the middle of last August he went to visit his daughters spending some time with each and from them he went to his son. George at Hillsboro and was only there a few days until he was stricken by the hand of disease, although he recovered his strength to a certain degree he never regained strength to be able to return to his old home.

Mr. Hill during his active years was an energetic, useful business man and built up home and farm and accumulated quite a wealthy property being stockholder in some of his county banks, also having shares in the Telephone Co , and interested in the business of his county.

He was postmaster at Jacox, from the time the postoffice was established until late in the year of 1912, when the marriage of his daughter, Anna and his failing eyesight compelled him to resign from that position.

'Tis hard to break the tender chord,
When love has bound the heart;
'Tis hard, so hard, to speak the words
"Must we forever part?"
Dearest loved ones, we have laid thee
In thy peaceful grave's embrace.
But thy memory will be cherished
Till we see thy loving face,

We miss thee from our home, dea ones,
We miss the from thy place;
A shadow o'er our life is cast,
We miss the sunshine of thy face.
We miss thy kind and willing hands
Thy fond and loving care;
Our home is dark without thee
We miss the every where.

One by one earth's ties are broken
As we see our love decay,
And the hopes so fondly cherished
Brighten but to pass away.
One by one, our hopes grow brighter
As we near the shining shore,
For we know across the river
Wait the loved ones gone before.

Jesus, while our hearts are bleeding
O'er the spoils that death has won,
We would at this solemn parting
Calmly say, "Thy will be done"
Tho' cast down, we're not forsaken,
Tho' afflicted, not alone;
Thou didst give and Thou hast taken,
Blessed Lord—Thy will be done.

Moore

Of Ernest Newton Moore

In the death of Ernest Newton Moore on February 10, 1942, at the home of his daughter, Mrs Harry Nixon, Meadow View, Virginia, the community and Methodist church at Dunmore lost one of its influential and most consecrated members, and this section of West Virginia has lost one of its loyal citizens.

Ernest N. Moore was born at the old Moore homestead at Dunmore, on January 5, 1856, and lived his entire life near the old home. He was the son of the late Isaac and Alcinda Arbogast Moore. Of his father's family there were five sons and two daughters. Harry M. Moore is the only surviving member.

The funeral service was conducted from the Dunmore Methodist church by his pastor, Rev. Quade A. Arbogast, assisted by Rev. Fred Oxendale of Marlinton. His body was laid to rest in the family plot in the Glade Hill Cemetery. All the members of his family were present except Mrs. S. B. Hannah, of Florence, Arizona, and Miss Eloise Moore of Charleston.

The many beautiful floral offerings were eloquent of the love and esteem of his family and friends.

At the early age of eleven years Mr Moore was converted and joined the Methodist church at Greenbank under the ministry of Rev. C. A. Joyce. And thus he was actively identified with church work during his long life, with the exception of the last two or three years when he was prevented by illness to attend church services. Most particularly was this true of Sunday School work, having served well and faithfully as Sunday School superintendent for fiifty-two years. He was devoted to his church, and was always ready to contribute of his means to support the various interests of the same. As long as his health permitted, he was always fouud in his place in the sanctuary on the Lord's Day.

His character, either as a man or a christian, can best be described by saying it was solid. In any thing that he did he was governed by the dictates of a calm and deliberate judgment, aided by a steady faith in God. His exemplary life was such that his entire family—six daughters and two sons—are all members of the church.

His testimony was always clear and his faith unswerving, leaving behind the reality of the "Life that is had with Christ in God."

Of a loved one gone to rest—
Those who think of you today,
Are the ones who loved you best.

The world may change from year to year
And friends from day to day,
But never will the one we love,
From memory pass away.

Sleep on, dear mother, take your rest,
We loved you well, but God knew best.

Always a devoted, active christian, she had been a member for a life time of the church of her fathers, the Presbyterian. Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin were church builders, and they were in no community long before a church and Sunday School would be established through their influence.

Mrs. McLaughlin lived to a ripe old age but she never became old. Her bodily strength failed, but she maintained her strong mind to the last hour. Her friends and companions were of all ages from toddling childhood to tottering old age. She shared in the joys and sorrows of them all. She lived all her life for others. Her active mind and busy hands were so filled with thought and care for others that any uncertainty of the future or trial of the past must needs care for itself. By her the tear of a child never went unnoticed any more then the supposedly deeper sorrow of those of mature years. The sharing of others burdens became her part in early life. As a young girl she saw a brother shot down and other brothers carried to prison by an invading army. She was the comfort and stay of her broken parents. She began her married life in a countrysids devastated by war It was her lot to suffer the trials and disappointments incident to a long life in this world, much of it during a hard period of our country's history. The effect of it all was to ripen and strengthen and deepen a naturally sweet disposition and develop strong, abiding faith in God

To this writer Aunt Mary has always been an ideal woman She is in mind when I read the thirty-first chapter of Proverbs. She performed so well all the duties in the sphere of womanhood.

"Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou excellest them all. A woman that feareth the Lord she shall be praised."

J. B. Orndorff

Jesse Brown Orndorff, of Arbovale, died in Elkins Convalescent Home, January 8, 1971, at the age 98 years, 1 month, and, 16 days.

He had lived most of his life in Arbovale as a successful farmer and owner and operator of a water power grist mill doing custom grinding of grain. The Lord spoke peace to his soul at what was then called the old mourners bench. "He calmly arose and came back for me," says Henry Brown, a life long friend and roommate at the Convalescent Home at the time of his passing, "and I being his first convert for the Lord, was saved before reaching the altar of prayer."

"J. B.," as he was affectionately called by his friends, remained faithful to the Lord to the end. He was the instigator, promoter, and founder of the White Pines Holiness Camp at Arbovale. While remaining a member of the Arbovale Methodist Church all his life, he enjoyed seeing people saved and took part in all denominatons of this nature.

Mrs Anna L. Price passed peace-
away on the 19th day of Janua-
24, aged 87 years, 6 mohths and
3.

She was born on the 15th day of July, 1836, in Manchester, Virginia, a daughter of Henry Seth Ward Randolph and Deborah Perry Randolph. When a small child the family moved to Texas where they resided for a few years, and from there to Brooklyn, New York, where her girlhood days were passed. At the age of fifteen she was placed at school in Greensville County, Virginia, where she finished her education in the school conducted by Mrs Polly Jones, and after her graduation she became a teacher in that school. She was also a graduate of Abadie's Collegiate Institute, Brooklyn, New York. During the Civil War she came to Lexington, Virginia, as a teacher in the Ann Smith Academy, and was there when that town was besieged and captured. There she met the late Rev. Dr. Wm T. Price, a Presbyterian minister, and they were married near Richmond, where her family had come to live, on the 12th day of October, 1865.

After their marriage they first lived at Monterey, Virginia, and from there at Mount Clinton, Rockingham County, where sixteen years were spent at the manse at that place. In 1885, the family removed to Marlinton, Pocahontas County, where she resided at the time of her death.

The Rev. Dr. Price preceded her to the grave three years since, having lived to the great age of ninety-one years. The couple, though of mature age when married, lived together long past the golden wedding period, having passed fifty-six years in companionship.

There were seven children born of the marriage. The oldest, William Randolph Price, died at the age of four years and is buried in Rockingham County. Six children survive her: Dr J. W. Price, Andrew Price, Dr Susie A. Price, Dr Norman R. Price, Calvin W. Price and Mrs F. R. Hunter, all of whom maintain their residence here.

She was widely known as a writer. Her life that of a devoted wife and mother. Her Christianity a bright and shining light. And she was never excelled in loyalty to her friends. She outlived all her girlhood companions, but though far removed from most of them, she kept close in touch with them as one by one they drifted out upon that unknown sea that rolls round all the world. The last years of her life were especially peaceful and calm and bright, spent in the home of her devoted daughter, Mrs Anna Hunter. She rounded out a complete and perfect life, and sustained and soothed by an unfaltering trust she approached her grave, as one who wraps the drapery of her couch about her, and lies down to pleasant dreams.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING

In the electric storm on Friday afternoon, May 26, 1939, Okey Leltnd Peyton, aged 14 years was instantly killed by lightning on Little Mountain, west of Hillsboro, and Okey Lee Coleman, aged 14 years, was so badly injured by the same stroke of lightning that he died from injuries and exposure on Monday, May 29, 1939.

The boys, close relatives, left their homes on Stamping Creek, to go ground hog hunting on Friday morning. They failed to return and some search was made for them on Saturday morning, but word came to the families the boys had been seen in an automobile at Frost. This proved to be misinformation, and on Sunday further search was made, but with no success On Monday morning Watoga Citizens Conservation Camp was notified and forty enrollees with their leaders responded for a systematic search. By eleven o'clock young Coleman was found, barely alive; caught in a wire fence. sorely torn, and wounded and delirious. He died as the party was carrying him in

The search continuing, about four o'clock in the afternoon the dead body of Okey Leland Peyton was found on the Joe McNeel place, nearly a mile from where the other boy was found. He had evidently suffered instant death from a bolt of lightning which had struck a sugar tree under which the boys were sheltering from the rain. It was apparent young Peyton had been leaning against the tree when it was struck. There was raveling from his shirt on the tree where the electric charge had left the tree to enter his body on its way to the ground. Evidently, death came instantly.

How young Coleman had made his way from the place of the tragedy to where he was found nearly a mile away can never be know. Hurt to the point of helplessness, he endured exposure from heat, cold and rain for almost seventy two hours before help came, and that too late.

That hand which bears all nature up
Shall guard his children well.

God sent an angel from Heaven
Just to take our dear loved one away,
To bear her safely to Heaven
From this world of sorrow and pain

There's coming a time when we can go
To that home beyond the sky,
Glorious tho't, when we all get there
We'll never say good-bye.

Dear father and mother your baby
Is sleeping sweetly in the grave,
But its spirit is with our Savior,
Who claimed the life he gave.

God needed a sweet little rosebud
To bloom in his garden fair,
So he took our little darling,
And transplanted her over there.

She's a bud from earth transplanted,
For our coming watch and wait,
In the upper garden growing,
Just within the Golden Gate.

In the beauty of the springtime
Youth is always at its best,
But for some unknown reason
God thought Heaven would be rest.

For the life that has departed
To the land of pearls and gold
Where the angels wait to welcome
Thee, within its Heavenly fold.

Some sweet day we'll meet up yonder
When our sorrows here are past
Will you be our guardian angel
Help us anchor Home at last?

Help us tide the stormy billows
When in darkness; life to steer
Loving faith, that Jesus keeps you
We may know that Heaven is near.

We wish to thank all who were so kind and thoughtful during the sickness and death of our dear one, and for the beautiful floral tributes

Died, on March 9, 1924, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sheets, near Wesley Chapel, Moody Orndorff Sheets, aged two years, eleven months and nine days. Moody was a bright boy for his age and always wanted to attend Sunday and preaching, and said a short time before he died that he loved everybody. We cannot understand why God calls these little ones from our homes, but some day if we live faithful will know. Our homes are made sad but Heaven is made brighter by by these little ones we loved so dearly and that are now with the Heavenly Father who said, Suffer the little children to come unto me. Nearly three months ago Moody was playing with the children of his home and got hit on the head with a stick. All that kind hands and medical skill could do was done for the little sufferer, but God in his mercy called him out of his suffering.

The great Jehovah full of love
An angel bright did send,
And took our little harmless dove
To joys that never end.

Sunset and evening star

I hope to see my Pilot face to face
